Reading Paintings

Kingsgate Education Building
Saturday 11th, 18th and 25th September 2010, 2.15pm - 3.45pm

This three part interactive talk will take you through a virtual art collection, including paintings from the National Gallery, the Tate Modern, MOMA, the Guggenheim as well as other museums. Marie-Therese Ross, freelance museum lecturer who teaches at the National Gallery and has taught at a variety of other museums in London and New York, will show you how to read and understand the Old Masters such as Rembrandt and Titian, relating them to more modern and contemporary art.

Cost: 3 interactive talks for a total of £25

Where: Kingsgate Workshops Trust, Education Building, 110 – 116 Kingsgate Road NW6
